Guide to Managing Challenging Behaviours Workshop

Sign up now!

30th April 2018 | 8:00 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.

Dear Friend of CDC,

Happy Easter!

We've got something very special for you in this edition of the newsletter! Aside from the news updates at the CDC and the SEN tips, we've added a new upcoming events section to keep you up to date with all the latest professional SEN events. In fact, we're actually hosting a workshop you might be interested in!

This April, we'll be welcoming Komala Kyme, Master of Teaching from the Pyramid Educational Consultants of Australia to deliver the 'Guide to Managing Challenging Behaviours' workshop.

The workshop is aimed at teachers and other professionals working with young children but is equally suitable for interested parents and caregivers.

Participants will learn:

- Effective behavioural strategies in managing and reducing challenging behaviours.
- Skills in encouraging children's positive behaviours and developing adaptive skills to replace unwanted behaviours in the long-run.

There are limited seats. Don't miss out! Click here to sign up now!

Developing a New Digital Interactive Platform?

We're delighted to have received a generous donation from FWD Hong Kong to develop Hong Kong's first Digital Interactive Platform for Children's Learning Progress.

Caring Company 2018

Congratulations to 18 of our partners who have been awarded the 'Caring Company' / 'Caring Organization' logo at this year's Caring Company Partnership Expo. Find out the full list of companies!

SEN Tips

More Than 'Good Job!'

Children build on their strengths and work on their weaknesses. It is important that we tell children what they are doing well and help them understand what is being expected.

Language Fun in the Bath!

Bubbles and rubber ducks are bath time favourites for many children. But, did you know that you could use these and many other toys to work on your child's language skills?

Hand Strengthening Activities

Some children have weak muscle tone in their hands. This can be caused by a number of reasons. Discover some simple fine-motor activities your child can do to improve their hand strength!
